What Sets Us Apart

Scott Land & Lease has years of experience working with Indigenous communities across Western Canada. We have established trusted relationships with Indigenous groups and a broad network of contacts within the First Nations and Metis Settlements. We have developed relationships with Indigenous people and their communities in a way that is sensitive to their concerns and cultures. Our success has been the result of learning how to balance the interests of Indigenous peoples, with the interests of our clients.

Our Advantages

Over the last ten years Scott Land & Lease has completed more than 3,000 First Nations and Metis Settlement consultations.

The scope and complexity of these projects range from single well projects to seasonal project developments or large linear pipeline projects. We are actively consulting with First Nations communities in Treaty areas 6, 7 and 8, as well as Metis Settlements, and have learned many of the issues that are important to the communities in those areas. Scott Land has consulted with 35+ First Nations and Metis Settlements. Our consultation team has administrators who are intimately familiar with the Aboriginal Consultation Office and administrative processes. We have several field agents who consult with the field and administrative staff from the communities, and are actively engaged in field visits and managing consultation records associated with each consultation. We have professional and respectful Indigenous relationships in all areas of Alberta and we have the most experienced Indigenous consultation team in the industry. Our team is out in the field every week, which keeps them current. This provides our clients with a significant edge. Let our experience work for your next project.

“The Scott Land & Lease First Nation Engagement team has managed our company’s pipeline project’s First Nation consultation process exceedingly well. The “extra mile” extended to assist First Nations’ representatives in Right-of-way and site assessment, the conscientious administration of the regulatory notification, consultation logs, application submissions, and persistence in meeting time lines was greatly appreciated.

It is one of the primary reasons we achieved our ACO adequacy decision significantly in advance of our targeted time lines. We have no hesitations in recommending the Scott Land & Lease First Nation Engagement team to other industry proponents.”
